Architectural & Civil Works

At AA Group, We have the Breadth and Depth of Expertise to respond to the Most Technically Challenging architectural design services and plan as well as draw internal and external layouts of new and proposed buildings. We have excellent reputation of analyzing architects' and building designers ' concepts and prepare preliminary sketches and detailed drawings, but because we hold our clients hand throughout the entire process, people talk about our support, care and personal touch during the entire project. We not only produce designs but we also provide detailed drawings and documentation using manual and computer – aided technology.

We possess a wide range of skills and fully committed staff for preparation of drawings showing site layouts, proposed site layouts, site analysis, floor plans, elevations, sections, three-dimensional images, material and finishes, as well as other aspects such as joinery detailing, construction details, lighting layouts, plumbing, drainage, car parking and landscaping details. Architectural design services are not an option, it is a part of full time services, we should all be providing. If we choose not to do the same, our work will suffer, our clients suffer and in the end our firm will suffer.

At AA Group, we take care of every single aspect of architectural design services, from preparation of drawings to selection of quality material needed, taking into consideration the material and labor costs, as well as construction completion dates. We prepare building specifications for building documentations to suit each and every client who put faith in us and for also tendering purpose for different projects. Our company provides assistance to architects/building designers on building sites to ensure that plans and specifications are followed till the end of project. We have built excellent reputation due to this quality of ours, as it sets us apart from every other firm where clients fend for themselves at the most critical point of the process. When a client fully understands that our role during the whole project is to protect them and keep them comfortable during construction phase, they would not have it any other way and keep coming back to us for our services.

Ship Chartering Services

AA Group has the experience to help you navigate the world of vessel chartering. We can provide charter services in general for African ports. We can secure the right type of vessel to meet your specific cargo requirements. Vessels come in all sizes and with different lifting capabilities. AA Group has access to a worldwide network of vessels.

AA Group matches your specifications with those of ship owners/operators, meeting the challenges of moving charter mainly for agricultural commodities as well as construction materials.

Our competitive chartering activities are focused on negotiating and concluding periodic charters for vessels of all types. One of the major factors behind our success in becoming the leading brokers in African ports has been our absolute commitment to delivering high quality service. Our continuous analysis of market trends and close watch on emerging opportunities in a rapidly changing environment allow us to offer up-to-date advice to our Principals.

Franchise Advisory Services

Advising in franchising is not a hobby, nor it is simple. AA Group Business Advisors is essentially three complementary businesses rolled into one: business brokerage, franchise consulting, and franchise development. The brokerage aspect of the business successfully puts buyers and sellers of businesses together. The franchise consulting side gives entrepreneurs access to pre-screened franchise systems. Lastly, the franchise development service assists people in growing their businesses through franchising.
